

QUINTESSENTIALLY WINE

2007 DADA 1 HAWKES BAY, NORTH ISLAND, NEW ZEALAND

White Wine - Aromatic

OK, this wine is a real challenge and if you are up to it you might well have experienced one of the most remarkable releases of the year. Made from a blend of Sauvignon Blanc, Viognier and Gewurztraminer, this is a phenomenal creation, with a bizarre label and an instant cult status awaiting it if ever any commentators get the chance to taste it. I, for one, will not write this up in any articles or in any columns, preferring to keep it for you. Take the plunge and collect this wine like you collect art. Aromatic, ripe, bracingly dry and massively long - this is the most thrilling white wine on our wine list!

Matthew Jukes

Matthew is the UK's leading wine expert. He spends much of his time travelling and tasting wine around the globe and samples more than 40,000 wines a year in his efforts to find the most interesting, most fascinating wines possible. His book, The Wine List, is the UK's best selling wine guide year on year and his column for the Daily Mail is the most read wine column in the UK. Matthew has been the buyer at the legendary Bibendum Restaurant in the historic Michelin Building, on London's Fulham Road, for over 15 years, but has never undertaken to buy for private clients - until now. "I see so many epic wines on my travels and tasting tours but they never make it on to our tables in the UK," says Matthew. "With Quintessentially Wine I can put them in front of a discerning group of people who will appreciate them to the full. That's incredibly exciting and rewarding."